Call it Creative (Soviet Economics)
By Meraven Istabal

I State and Public Economics vs Capitalism

So of course be creative – there is something like state and public finance. It is in crisis because Soviet Union is too creative – our plan is hotels, even architecture and kitsche agrarian policies, and even mercados and a lot of cafes, and all that we call production, circulation and distribution and consumption all as state capital.

II. The Crisis in state capitalism

The crisis is a state crisis, which will be attacked by capitalists and Bretton Woods and other such financial plans. But of course it is because Europe is against Communism.

III. How Creative is Our Economics

Budapest hotel, sweets, chocolates, and even toys, everything is planned by the state.
